

T echnical

The transfer of the operations and maintenance at the Michoud Assembly Facility (MAF) from External Tank (ET) to SF01 is scheduled for April 29 with a 62-day transition period resulting in a handover date of July 1. Lockheed Martin in combination with SF01 has developed greater than 30 specific detail-level turn-over plans to be worked during the transition period ensuring a smooth transfer of operations.

I

nformational

As part two of our series on the four conditions (security, equity, individualization, and participation) necessary to increase employee productivity, this week we address security. People need security; security in the functions they currently serve. If we want people to work hard, then we need to assure them their critical skills are needed now and in the future. We are maintaining our focus on flying the Shuttle safely and completing our mission. Successful completion will contribute to the future of the Constellation program.

P ersonal

Are your fingertips cold? With the fingertips of both hands touch the back of your neck. Stress reduces blood circulation to your extremities. If your fingers feel cooler than the skin on your neck, you may be experiencing tension. Stress can lower finger temperature by as much as 30 degrees.